

MUSIC
Tim
Byron

VISUAL ART
Katie
Milton

BOOKS
Linda
Morris

free

THE ROYAL FAIR

Hark the beginning of summer with a street market complete with food stalls and live music entertainment. Vendors include local cafe and restaurant favourites such as Sonoma, Moncur Patisserie and Sonder as well as an oyster and champagne bar. Saturday, 11am-5pm, Broughton Street, Paddington, 9331 2604, royalhotel.com.au.

CAROLS IN THE CITY

Award-winning choirs such as the Northern Beaches Choir and the Australian Girls Choir serenade Christmas shoppers with a range of favourite holiday carols. Thursday to December 22, 6-8pm, Pitt Street Mall, city, 9265 9333, sydneychristmas.com.au.

YEAH. CHEERS. THANKS A LOT

After more than three decades since it was first established and 15 years at its current site, Brenda May Gallery says goodbye. See a retrospective of the artists who have exhibited under its roof, including Nicole Welch's Tondo #4 (pictured). Until December 24, Brenda May Gallery, 2 Danks Street, Waterloo, 9318 1122, brendamaygallery.com.au.

KING BROTHERS

The Japanese rock band's live concerts are so explosive they've been banned from several venues in Osaka. They bring their manic guitar riffs and head thrashing to Sydney. Saturday, 7.30-11pm, Frankie's Pizza, 50 Hunter Street, city, frankiespizza bytheslice.com.

books

NEW WRITING

Journalist Paul Daley launches the annual anthology of works from the Booranga Writers' Centre, fourW. Saturday, 3.30pm, Gleebooks, 49 Glebe Point Road, Glebe, free, 0409 894 973, gleebooks.com.au.

STAN GRANT

The Indigenous Literacy foundation is the beneficiary of this fundraiser featuring Stan Grant on the subject of his Quarterly Essay, The Australian Dream - Blood, History and Becoming. Tuesday, 6pm, Seymour Centre, Cleveland Street and City Road, Chippendale, $20, 9351 7840, seymourcentre.com.

RED WIGGLE

Murray Cook, aka the Red Wiggle, and authors Hilary Bell and Sandy Fussell headline the Wollongong Writers' Festival children's program. Saturday and Sunday, 10.30am-3.30pm,